TRAINING

Invest in training for your business growth

Today's business environment is tough and gaining a competitive advantage through your people is more important than ever. But, how do you make sure your investment in training actually works?

At Advance we have designed a range of training programmes that all share the same objective: to design and deliver training that makes a positive impact on your bottom line.

We do this by ensuring our training is always practical, relevant and easily transferred back into the workplace to produce sustainable improvements in the way that people think, work and relate. In this way we provide delegates with a valuable toolkit of skills, techniques and strategies that they can use.

Whether you are a small business or a large corporation, Advance can design and deliver a programme that is right for you. We offer a wide range of highly acclaimed and accredited programmes to meet your specific needs and unlock the profit potential that exists in your people and your business.

Our facilitators and trainers are all highly experienced and have worked with some of the UK's best known organisations including Balfour Beatty, Network Rail, Amey, Robert Bosch, Premier Foods, Lafarge Cement and BP.

As you consider the benefits of investing in training you might like to think about how our experience will help your business to grow.

Our Courses

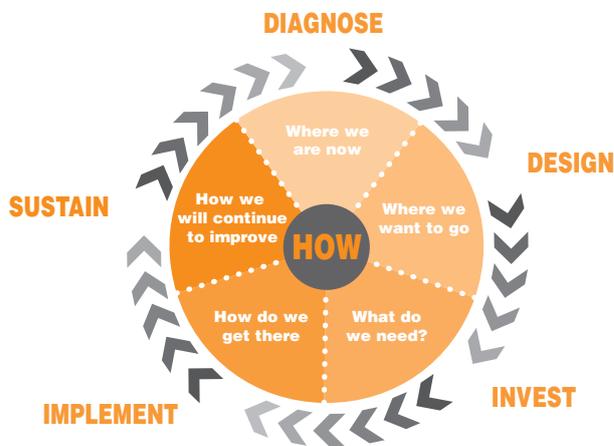

We provide training in the following areas:

- > Leadership and Management
- > Business Skills
- > Executive Development

Leadership and Management

We provide a range of programmes accredited by the Institute of Leadership and Management (ILM) covering all areas of leadership, management and team development. Our programmes cover levels 3, 4 and 5 and are specifically designed to provide delegates with a solid developmental foundation. We apply the diagnostic model below to those key areas:

Business Skills

In addition we offer the following stand alone programmes:

- > Developing a Work Winning Capability
 - our highly successful ILM accredited programme is designed to help you win more tenders by creating the environment to win more work and develop successful tender submissions
- > Sales Mastery
- > Marketing Mastery
- > Presentation Mastery
- > Business Enterprise

Executive Development

Coaching and mentoring can provide a wide range of benefits for organisations of all sizes, especially small businesses. When conducted in an efficient and productive manner, coaching and mentoring provides leaders with a way to learn and grow within the company.

Our training is delivered at our Business Growth Centre, located in the heart of Uttoxeter or at your preferred location and can be tailored to meet your specific business needs.

What delegates have said about our courses and trainers...

"I cannot remember ever having attended a training course feeling so motivated and wanting to implement my learning"

Nick Longford,
Robert Bosch

"This was, without doubt, the best course I have attended in over 30 years in shipping. It has improved my confidence, my awareness of myself and more importantly my awareness of others, their needs and their abilities. Brilliant!"

Kevin Barker,
Medite Shipping Co.

"I have attended a number of courses in the past on many of these topics. I have never left with the confidence that it will work; I now have. Thank you for the time and support and for making a difference."

Jonathon Thomas,
Amey Mouchel

"An exceptional course. As a new and developing manager the course was an amazing eye opener. I no longer think I can effectively be a manager. I now know I can be an effective manager."

Tom Goodall,
Princes Ltd
